Jonathan Long, Sr. was born about 1811 in Pennsylvania. Nothing is known of his parents nor his ancestors. Jonathan married Catharine Adams, daughter of William and Carroline Adams, also of Pennsylvania. The 1850 federal census recorded the Jonathan Long Sr. family residing in Selinsgrove, Penns Township, Union County, Pennsylvania. Selingsgrove is in present day Snyder County, Snyder County was formed from Union County in 1855. Union County was formed from Northumberland County by the Act of March 22, 1813. There was a Long family in Union County since 1814, residing on the east side (the Union County side) of Penns Creek. Penns Creek divides Snyder County and Union County. The Longs of Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania seem to have located west of Penns Creek on the Snyder County side.

After the 1850 Census, Jonathan Long Sr. and his family moved to Illinois. Pennsylvania families were not able to divide enough of their land to sons and daughters due to the scarcity of land in their own state. Many Pennsylvanians moved "out West" to Stephenson, Ogle, and Carroll counties of Illinois. The early Pennsylvania settlers built their homes in the forests of Illinois as they did in the wooded areas of Pennsylvania. At first, these settlers were not impressed with the large Illinois prairies. Land that would not grow a tree could have no practical value to a farmer. However, John Deere of Grand Detour, Ogle County, Illinois changed all that with the invention of the steel plow. Soon, the prairie's fertile soil produced envious crops and word spread throughout Pennsylvania. It is not known exactly when Jonathan Long Sr. and his family arrived in Illinois. On March 31, 1856, Jonathan Long, Sr. purchased forty acres of land, "more or less", from John F. Solser in Carroll County, Illinois. Jonathan paid $300 which put the land at about $7.50 an acre. No information on Catharine (Adams) Long has been found after 1850. It is possible that she died while in Pennsylvania or perhaps in Illinois. The date and location of Jonathan Long Sr.'s death is unknown.

Efforts were made to quench the fire but they were vain and it was with great difficulty that the furniture in the lower rooms was moved. The entire wardrobe of the family, with perhaps one or two exceptions, was destroyed. The citizens of Brookville, with commendable generosity, are circulating a subscription paper to get funds to build the unfortunate man another house."

MedicalNotes

Catharine C. Long was the sister of Jonathan Long, Jr. and the daughter of Jonathan and Catharine (Adams) Long, Sr. Catharine C. Long was born June 28, 1835 in Pennsylvania. She moved with her parents to Illinois after the 1850 census. It is believed that Catharine was married twice, her first marriage resulting in 3 or 4 children. Catharine Long's father was known to have purchased land in Carroll County, Illinois in 1856. The 1860 census of Carroll County, Illinois listed a Catharine Long, age 23, residing in the home of "Jonas Long", age 50. Listed in this household is a girl named Harriet Frances Long, age 3. Listed below Harriet is a male named William H. Hunt, age 21. It is conjecture that this 'Catharine Long' was the sister of Jonathan Long, Jr. The identity of William H. Hunt is unknown. Perhaps William Hunt was Catharine's first husband. Catharine C. Long did marry Peter Harrison Coble, brother of Lydia Ann Coble, on January 21, 1870 in Ogle County, Illinois. The 1870 census of Brookville Township, Ogle County, Illinois listed Catharine Long Coble (written as "Covill") residing in the home of her father, Jonathan Long, Sr. Catharine was listed as being 33 years old. Her husband, Peter Coble was listed as being 29 years old. Residing in this household were the children of Catharine Long: Hannah - age 13, Joseph - age 9, and Ida - age 3. It is believed these three children were from Catharine's previous marriage. Nothing is mentioned of Harriet Frances Long in this 1870 census and there is no concrete evidence that the Catharine Long of the 1860 census and the Catharine Covill of the 1870 census are the same person. Catharine C. Long Coble died November 15, 1872 and was buried in the Brookville Cemetery, located at the corner of Highway 52 and Eagle Creek Road, Brookville Township, Ogle County, Illinois.

Selinsgrove is in present-day Snyder County, Pennsylvania. John A. Long was the son of Jonathan Long, Sr. and Catharine Adams. John Long moved to Illinois with his parents. His father purchased land in Carroll County, Illinois in 1856.

John A. Long, along with his brother William, joined the Union cause during the Civil War. From Dixon, Illinois, John enlisted September 7, 1861 and was assigned to Company H of the 15th Illinois Infantry Volunteers, commanded by Captain Morton D. Swift. John Long's pension papers record his physical description: Height - 5' 11", Complexion - dark, Color of Eyes - blue, Color of Hair - black. At the time of his enlistment, John listed "Harness Maker" as his occupation. The 15th Illinois took part in several important engagements of the Civil War: Fort Donelson, Shiloh, and the Siege of Vicksburg. John A. Long, in 1891, submitted for an Invalid Pension by declaring he had incurred heart trouble, rheumatism, and kidney disease as a result of his military service. On September 7, 1864, in Chattanooga, Tennessee, John Long was honorably discharged. On March 8, 1865, John A. Long became Captain Long, commanding officer of Company K, 15th Illinois Infantry. He was honorably discharged at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, in September of 1865.

After the Civil War, John Long moved to Boone, Boone County, Iowa and established a harness shop. John then moved back to Illinois and is found in the 1870 and 1880 census residing in Brookville, Illinois. On the Fourth of July, 1870, John Adam Long married Ellen Jane Hoffhine at Freeport, Stephenson County, Illinois. Ellen was born December 20, 1847 in Brookville, Ogle County, Illinois. She was the daughter of David Hoffhine and Millicent Franks. John and Ellen's children are mentioned in John's pension papers: Loyd, Bernice M., Jensta A., Roy H., Guy, Ivy Virginia, and Helen May. John Long, on pension form #3-389, dated 1915, stated that Loyd, Roy, Guy, and Jensta were deceased by 1915.

In March of 1884, John and Ellen Long moved their family to Spokane, Spokane County, Washington. John continued his trade as a harness maker. In 1894 he was elected as a member of Spokane's city council. John Adam Long died in 1926 and is buried at Riverside Cemetery, Spokane, Washington. The date of Ellen's death is unknown.

Notes

William A. Long was the son of Jonathan Long, Sr. and Catharine Adams. William was born June 15, 1841 in Selinsgrove, Penn Township, Union County (presently Snyder County), Pennsylvania. William moved with his family to Illinois after the 1850 census. William's father purchased land in Carroll County, Illinois in 1856.

William A. Long served in the Civil War with the 15th Illinois Infantry, Company H. He enlisted on June 20, 1861. According to the Illinois Adjutant's report, his residence at the time of enlistment was Polo, IL. The 15th Illinois, in which William served as a private, was the first "three-year" unit formed from the state of Illinois. His regiment was assigned to the 4th Division, 2nd Brigade, in what was known as the "Army of the Tennessee", under the command of Brigadier General Stephen A. Hurlbut. At the battle of Shiloh, in April of 1862, the 2nd Brigade losses numbered: 130 killed, 492 wounded, 8 captured or missing, for a total of 630 casualties. At Pittsburgh Landing, the 15th Illinois lost 252 officers and men either killed or wounded. The regiment also took heavy casualties at Corinth and Bolivar, Mississippi. The 15th Illinois was at the siege of Vicksburg and eventually joined up with Sherman and his march, across Georgia, to the sea. Private William A. Long received gunshot wounds in the instep of his left foot and in the right thigh at the battle of Shiloh, on April 6, 1862. He was admitted to General Hospital, Mound City, Illinois on April 11, 1862 and returned to duty on May 4, 1862. William Long was also hospitalized in Memphis, Tennessee, 1863. William later returned to duty with the 15th Illinois. Private William Long was discharged in June of 1864 and spent a few months back in civilian life before rejoining the war effort with Company K, 15th Illinois volunteers, on May 18, 1865. William Long held the rank of First Sergeant of Company K. While serving with this unit, he witnessed the surrender of General Robert E. Lee at Appomattox and marched down the streets of Washington, D.C. in the Grand March, which marked the end of the war. During his military service, William Long's eyes became afflicted with some sort of infection. He ultimately became blind in one eye and had restricted vision in the other eye. William Long received a pension for his wartime service and, at the time of his death in 1916, was receiving $30 a month. William's brothers, John and Jonathan, also served in the Civil War.

After the war, William Long learned the potter's trade and practiced this occupation for three years before he began farming. William Long married Mary Catherine Huff on October 1, 1868 in Brookville, Ogle County, Illinois. They were married by Jacob Kemerling, Minister of the Gospel. Mary Catherine Huff was born October 3, 1852 in Dauphin County, Pennsylvania. Her father's name is unknown at this time. Mary Huff's mother was Catherine Brubaker. Mary was only 15 at the time of her marriage. William was 12 years older than Mary. The young bride must have been stricken with grief at the loss of several of her children. Death seemed to plague the Long family even after they migrated to the Dakota Territory. Of the 11 children born to this couple, only six survived to adulthood. Lyman Long was the only son, of the four born, to survive. It is believed that Lyman Long eventually married and had heirs to carry on the Long name. Lyman Long died at the age of 24 in 1903, before both of his parents. Of their eleven (11) children, only ten (10) are known: Annie M., William Rutherford, Sadie, Theodosia, Lyman A., Fannie Alice, Mary Catherine, Charles Eugene, Grace Malinda, and Ervin.

William Long and his family moved, by covered wagon, to Hutchinson County, Dakota Territory in March of 1884. William's wife, Mary Catherine Huff, was pregnant with their son, Charles Eugene, during this journey. Charles Eugene Long was their first child born in the Dakota Territory in May of 1884.

William Long was described as being 5'10" inches tall, light hair, blue eyes, and fair complexion. The family homestead consisted of 80 acres in section 25, Twp 98, range 58. By 1910, the Long family sold the farm and moved to the town of Olivet, South Dakota. Politically, William Long endorsed the principles of the Republican party. He was a member of the G.A.R. post of Olivet, South Dakota and had served as the senior vice commander of that post.

William Long died on July 25, 1916 in Olivet, Hutchinson County, South Dakota. He and his wife, Mary, are buried in the Evangelical Wittenberg Cemetery, Wittenberg Township, Hutchinson County, South Dakota. Notes

Jonathan A. Long, Jr. was the father of James Garfield Long. Jonathan was born September 25, 1842 in Selinsgrove, Penns Township, Union County, Pennsylvania. Selinsgrove is part of present-day Snyder County, PA. Snyder County was a part of Union County. Snyder became a county in 1855. Union County, PA, previously a part of Northumberland County, was formed by the Act of March 22, 1813.

Jonathan A. Long, Jr. was the son of Jonathan Long and Catharine Adams, both natives of Pennsylvania and of French/German descent.

(based on the account of Jonathan Jr's brother, William A. Long, as recorded in William Long's biographical sketch, "Memorial and Biographical Record, Compendium of Biography - South Dakota", published by Geo. a. Ogle & Co., 1897).

Jonathan Long is listed as the sixth child of Jonathan and Catharine Long; Jonathan Jr's age is listed as seven.

MIGRATION TO ILLINOIS:

Sometime after the 1850 Census, the Long family moved to Illinois. Jonathan Long Sr. can be traced into Illinois but his wife, Catharine Adams has not yet been found in Illinois.

CIVIL WAR:

Jonathan A. Long, Jr. listed Loran, Stephenson County, Illinois as the nearest Post Office when he enlisted to fight in the Civil War. He listed Shannon, Carroll County, Illinois as his place of residence. On August 6, 1862, Jonathan became Private Long of Company "F", 92nd Illinois Mounted Infantry Volunteers. Private Long enlisted for three years. The 92nd Regiment was mustered into service on September 4, 1862 at Camp Fuller, Rockford, Illinois. Organized and trained at Camp Fuller, the 92nd was composed of ten Companies; five from Ogle County, three from Stephenson County, and two from Carroll County. After service for one year, in 1863, the 92nd Regiment was attached to the famous Wilder's "Lightning Brigade". Several of the Companies were issued the Spencer repeating rifle (this included Jonathan's Company). The "old 92nd" fought bravely at the battle Chicamauga and Company F was the first Union force, since the war began, to enter Chattanooga. Company F raised the "Stars and Stripes" over the Crutchfield House (popular hotel). Jonathan A. Long was mustered out of the service on June 21, 1865 at Concord, North Carolina.

Personally came before me, a Notary Public in and for the aforesaid County and State Thomas Winston a citizen of Forreston, Illinois whose Post Office address is Forreston, Illinois well known to me to be reputable and entitled to credit, and who, being duly sworn, declares in relation to aforesaid case as follows:

That he is a Practicing Physician, and that he has been acquainted with said soldier for about 25 years, and that said soldier visited the Affiant some weeks since for the purpose of procuring his testimony in this case. Affiant recognized said Long and felt very certain he had seen him when both were members of the 92nd Ill Vol. The Affiant gave Surgeon Winston a full account of his sickness while His Regiment was in the vicinity of Cincinnati during the fall of 1862. Of where he the Affiant reckoned the time he had Rheumatism and of the same given said Long by the Affiant he, said Long gave a full re-account.

From this history and from what he can remember of the condition of the men in his care he is satisfied said Long was sick for a number of weeks with Rheumatism some time during the months of October, November and December in early 1862.

At said Long was sick a part of the men were on the sick list and it would be impossible to remember each individual.

(handwritten note at bottom stating surgeon's remark about rheumatism was vague)

He further declares that he has been a practitioner of medicine for 30 years, and that he has no interest either direct or indirect, in the prosecution of this claim.
